

Please understand that it is important to have diversity in television and radio-especially on a local level. Don't allow the likes of Rupert Murdoch to take over America's airwaves. What has already happened in radio with Clear Com and other large media companies' purchase of virtually every radio station in the US has already had a negative impact on local advertisers' and artists' access to their markets. Please reconsider the drawbacks of continuing or expanding this policy. I believe it is bad for America.
